NOTES ET CRITIQUES

Le Caire, 9 octobre. La bourse s'ouvre libre à Londres cette à 4 3/8 pour cent.

Hier, stock Exchange, la Consolidated an- glaise a obtenu 1 1/2 à 1 1/2 de même que l'Union 1/4 à 1/4. La National Bank et l'Agence, ainsi que les autres valeurs égyptiennes, sont demeurées également inchangées à leur prix précédent.

A Paris, l'assurance Crédit Foucier dé- perte est restée inchangée à 7 7/8. La Banque d'Athènes a été réduite à 144. L'empres- sures 1906 a passé de 67,50 à 55,50.

Le 1er octobre, le marché des valeurs a passé de 10 à 11,50 en raison de la grande pénurie d'or démontrée par les transactions exceptionnelles du début de la saison cotière. Le taux de cette date est, d'ailleurs, fait au cours prochain grâce au succès obtenu par les émis- sions électorales et aux dernières attentes d'ici lundi. Ainsi bien, le cours des actions a été élevé d'40 à 45 francs ; mais il a été nécessaire à consolider et même à accroître la bourse acquise hier, en attendant la plus forte popularité qui semble l'annoncer à breve échéance, tout au moins pour plusieurs jours de la sorte.

La National Bank a gagné 5/8 à 26 13/16. L'Agence s'est rapprochée à 9 1/16. Le Cairo di Bourke a été rabaissé à 9 23/32. Le Comptoir Finance a été inscrit à 6 13/16. Le Traction aérienne et 6 9/16 la nouvelle. Le Banque d'Athènes s'est encore élevée à 5 7/16 à 7/16.

Le Credit Foucier a été mis à 7 1/16 à 7/16.

Le British a progressé à 9 23/32. L'Action Agence a été rabaissée à 2 26/32 par contre, la partie de fondateur a réactionnée à 7 1/8 à 7 1/2. Les Wardour Biates a été à 6 1/2. Les immeubles sont remontés à 5 1/4.

L'Action Entreprises Immobilières et Transports a bénéficié de 1 1/2 à 1 1/2. La partie de fondateur a été abaissée à 8/4.

Le Dala Land a passé de 11 5/8 à 11 3/4. Le Comptoir Finance a été rabaissé à 6 13/16 et 6 9/16. Les Journaux sont descendus à 1 1/4 à 1 1/2. Le Frigorifique a rattrapé la cours de 4 à 15/16. L'Anglo-American Nissé a fait 5 1/8. La partie de fondateur Automobiles du Caire ont été traitées à 10 1/2.

Le groupe des valeurs égyptiennes, la Néogrecque, a été abaissé à 17 1/2. L'Anglo-Egyptian s'est rapprochée à 6 5/8 à 3/8. Upperc Egypt a été abaissé à 5 1/2 pour atteindre 5 1/8. Les acheteurs, cependant, a été arrimé à 5 1/16 à 1/16. Les National ont rapproché à 3 15/16. La partie de fondateur a été abaissée à 5 9/16.

Parmi les petites valeurs, les Dala Land, sur leur baisse, ont passé à 1 1/2 et 1 1/2. Le Hooker ont avancé à 1 1/16. Les Maftaké à 36 1/8 à 6. Les Walkers et Malmesbury 0 1/16 à 1/16. En bons termes, les Ringers ont progressé à 1 1/8 et leur part de fondateur à 12 1/2. Le Kedivial Mail a obtenu forte hausse à 35 1/2.

Il se confirme que le conseil d'administration de l'Egyptian Marketa Co. a décidé la distribution d'un dividende de 3% pour la première semestre de l'exercice en cours.

Les journaux locaux demandent que soit dé- tailé sur l'argumentation éthique retenue à Londres contre le Board of Trade, la Walker and Malmesbury Ltd. et M. Constantine Malmesbury. Ainsi, ordre versé, M. Constantine Malmesbury qui n'accepte du dossier en démission, aurait finalement accepté de ne plus être sociétaire d'administrateur de la Society on Egypt ; il sera alors pour collèges M. George Walker et Hoskyns.

Le 2^{me} octobre, le Caire a reçu l'Egyptian Trust and Investment Ltd. (telle que nommée) avec succès. L'Egyptian Trust and Investment Ltd. a été nommée à la bourse de Kursi bourse, directeur général de l'Egyptian Trust and Investment Ltd. (telle que nommée).

Le Caire a été pour accorder à la liquidation de l'Egyptian Trust and Investment Ltd. 100,000 £, comme on sait, alors par la bourse de Londres Co.

Aux termes du paragraphe intervenu, l'ordre du tiers sera fait à raison de 10 actions d'Egyptian Monopole contre 4 actions Building Land.

(Hier, à la Bourse d'Alexandrie, où étaient cotées à 18 1/2 et 18 1/2, et la matinée du 9 octobre à 18 1/2 à 18 1/2.)

Court des Affaires.

Les négociations de la Kaf-Zayat Cotton Co. ont été rabaissées au cours de la matinée de vendredi 6 octobre.

Pour le 8 octobre en cours. A l'ordre du jour : approbation des comptes de l'assureur-vérificateur et l'admission statutaire, etc.

— Un avis officiel rappelle aux porteurs d'actions que l'ordre de l'article 7 des Statuts tient lieu qui ne porte pas la mention régulière des renouvelles appels contre d'au- gmentation. Toute somme qui ne paye le jour de son échéance peut être placée à la disposition de la Société, un intérêt de 7% l'an à compter du jour.

"DEATH TO THE JEWS."

A SCARE IN ODESSA.

Odessa, October 9.
The President of the "Union of the Russian People" has gathered a gang of 500 members and instructed them to exterminate the rebels and Jews. Russia, he said, wanted neither Constitution nor Parliament but Orthodoxy and Autocracy. The gang rushed into the streets shouting "Death to the Jews." All the shops were instantly closed. The Jews became panic-stricken. The Press intervened and averted a massacre. ("Censor")

EGYPT AND CHALDEA.

THE BRONZE AND IRON AGES.

The recent discoveries in Egypt and Chaldea have thrown great light upon the relative sequence of the stone, bronze, and iron ages in the East; and this evidence is particularly important. Dr. Pe. G. M. Davis, the author of "The Bronze Age in America," states that the theory that "the age of iron was a myth." The statements which the author makes in supporting his theory show an extraordinary lack of knowledge of recent archaeological discoveries. After referring to the fact that in the pyramid of Cheops the Pharaoh worked such hard materials as Porphyry, basalt, and granite, he says: "There is abundant evidence that the Egyptians were acquainted with iron, not the soft, shiny variety of barbarian races, but steel." Furthermore he makes the statement that bronze was used in Egypt in the fourth dynasty, when the pyramids were built.

The discoveries of M. de Morgan at Naqada and Professor Petrie at Abydos show that the house was known, and fashioned into small tools for carving stone and ivory in the later Neolithic age. The recent researches of Professor Petrie in Sinai show that the copper mines there were worked in the time of the Hyksos. The authority of Davis is given for the existence of depots of iron and heaps of slag in the Wady Maghar. These so-called heaps of slag are now known to be the remains of burnt offerings at the sacred camp of Habu. There is, however, ample evidence that the bronze age and the stone age in Egypt continued side by side until at least the time of the Hyksos dynasty, a.c. 280, when the use of iron ceased, except for religious purposes. The use of iron for tools or weapons never became generic in Egypt until certainly a.c. 300. No dependence is to be placed on the supposed date of the introduction of iron surgical instruments and tools by the discoverer of the so-called "iron age," whatever he may be with Phoenician or Roman remains. The paintings on the tombs at Beni Hassan, a.c. 2800, show Egyptian butchers using not, as the writer says, steel knives, but fist, the process of making which is shown in other paintings, and the whetting stone used at the workmen's bench, used with the same, many of which are found in the neighbourhood of the tombs, thrown away when useless. The only known to the Egyptians in ancient times was the meteoric iron, as its name, "the metal of heaven," shows. That the Egyptian workmen used only iron tools is shown by the large numbers of them found in the workmen's towns. In Egypt we have, therefore, proof of a bronze age in which the later period of copper tools were introduced first, followed soon after by harder bronze implements, and it was not until the last days of the Egyptian civilization that iron was introduced, and then not very generally.

From Egypt the evidence is more clear. The introduction of the bronze and copper ages is remarkable that, although the recent explorations in Chaldea, especially those of M. de Morgan at Tell el Amarna, and Dr. H. H. Atkinson at Naqada, have carried the record back to a.c. 4,500, there is no proof of a bronze age. This is due to the fact that the civilization of the colonists in Chaldea was developed on the east of the Tigris, where M. de Morgan has found at Susa a series of stratified remains of the palaeolithic, neolithic, and bronze age. The Susa remains brought with them the knowledge of working both silver and copper, as well as the making of bronze. In the reign of Manasses of Judah, a. d. 720, he sent a silver tariff, but also copper and bronze objects mentioned, and by no means of iron. Copper, bronze, silver, and lead are mentioned as material used in the construction of palaces, but there is no record of meteoric iron, the sign for which is also "hastur," "lightning," but the "iron" is mentioned in the hymns, but the mention of iron first occurs in the commercial tablets of the dynasty of Babylon about a. d. 2,300, and it is not until later still that iron is mentioned in the tablets. The words are metathetic, therefore, quite contrary to the old doctor's conclusion "that there is no necessity and no need to search on an age of iron." It has been inferred between the ages of 1000 and 500 B.C. that there was a great dearth of iron, and that the iron age did not begin until the 1st century B.C. ("Daily Telegraph," Oct. 10, 1906).

The Greek historian Herodotus does not go so far as to say that the Greeks of Thamis were "wrapped" in impregnable mystery, but the wheels of Time move slowly in this age of motors, and it is therefore rather than rather than to read to stand to read in "the Daily Telegraph" this morning that the King Edward VII is to be buried in a sarcophagus of iron, which is to be made of solid gold, and a very grave deduction is given by the correspondent of how it will reach his Holiness, sealing on the day of his death, the body of the King, or, if he should die in the course of his reign, the body of his son, the Prince of Wales. We feel sorry for the tortuous words used, and the author of the article, who did not seem to be a man of much education, has given us a good lesson in the use of the English language. ("Westminster Gazette")

Extracts on Steel.
The prospects are that in 1909 no Continental naval war will be in fighting condition on one side of the Dreadnought type; whereas, if the British and French navies are to be equalized, they will then have one squadron made up of six Dreadnoughts, and, in addition, a squadron composed of eight ships of the King Edward VII class, and two Lord Nelsons.
